Introduction ===== Increased phenotypic variability of endophenotypes in autism spectrum disorders (ASD) suggests altered regulatory pathways for gene expression. Disruption in the fragile X mental retardation protein (FMRP), an RNA binding protein that functions in mRNA translational control, has been implicated in ASD. Alterations in FMRP in the striatum of subjects with ASD have been reported. Up-regulation of the polyribosomal complex-binding protein (PABPC1) was detected in the striatum of ASD subjects, and PABPC1 binding to miRNAs and mRNA targets was altered. PABPC1 regulates miRNA function, altering the expression of target mRNAs, which could contribute to the altered striatal gene expression in ASD. The aim of this study was to investigate whether PABPC1 is differentially expressed in striatum of ASD subjects compared to controls.

Methods ===== PABPC1 was quantified in postmortem striatal samples from 8 control subjects (3 male, 5 female) and 8 ASD subjects (3 male, 5 female). Subgroup analysis was performed to compare males and females within the ASD group. The number of samples analyzed is listed in Supplementary Tables.

Results ===== The mean age at death in control subjects was 18.5 ± 1.3 years compared to ASD subjects at 20.2 ± 4.0 years. PABPC1 levels were compared between ASD and control groups as a whole and subgroup analysis was performed to compare males and females. In the ASD group as a whole, PABPC1 levels were significantly higher than controls ($p=0.03$) (Figure 1{ref-type="fig"}). In control subjects, PABPC1 levels were similar between males and females ($p=0.58$). In ASD, males had significantly higher PABPC1 levels than females ($p=0.03$) (Figure 2{ref-type="fig"}), and this was not the case in controls ($p=0.85$).

Conclusions ===== Increased PABPC1 in ASD subjects indicates dysregulation of PABPC1 levels in

Q: Is there any method for making a real time satellite image every hour using google maps api and javascript? My requirement is to provide a real time satellite image to the user and this image must update in every one hour. My requirement is to do this using google maps api. Can I do this using google maps api? A: No you can't. Google Maps only allows you to request satellite imagery of a certain area for a certain time and for certain zoom levels. You will have to do what you mention in your post, by using the Google Earth Javascript API, which is described in the documentation here.

Q: jQuery Chosen plugin 'on' method not work I am trying to get jQuery Chosen plugin working. My jquery version is 3.1.1 When I did a search, it returns no result. The jQuery docs seems to have one on, but not working. This is my test code: `test $(document).ready(function () { $('#my_select').chosen(); }); $(document).ready(function () { $('#my_select').on('change', function ()`
